Do Farm Women Get a Square Deal.

Raleigh Progressive Farmer.
We fear that, as a general rule, there is more attention paid to making the farm work easy than to lightening the labor of the housekeeper, and we know that there are thousands and thousands of women on our farms who have to work too hard, whose duties—duties that do not cease to call for attention because of delicate health or distraught nerves would tire out a man, and who, in all likelihood, feel, as our correspondent put it, "all fagged out" at the end of almost every day.

"Brethren, these things ought not to be." We farmers of the South need, as a class, to pay much more attention to the niceties and refinements of life, to think more of the little things—to us—which means so much to our wives and mothers and sisters and, above all, to give more thought to the making lighter of the often oppressive burdens of toil and responsibility they have to bear. Most of us will be surprised when we sit down and think seriously over the matter, at the many ways in which we can do this, and while many can not do all or nearly all, that we would wish, there are few indeed who cannot do much; and once begun, new ways of making the household work easier will be continually presenting themselves.

Think it over by yourself, Mr. Farmer, then talk it over with your wife. Find out what she thinks would help her most, and try to arrange for getting it. The very fact that you have thought of her in this way will help her wonderfully, and the spirit of co-operation—without which any home is but half a home—will not only make her housekeeping pleasanter, but will add to the profits of your farm work a hundred fold beyond your expectations.

Beautiful Words.

Nashville Tennessean.
What is the most beautiful word in the English language?

It is the word "love," he would doubtless say "love."

His plays constantly emphasize the belief that love is the only thing which makes the world really worth while.

The Albany (Ga.) Herald says "home" is the most beautiful word in our language.

And there is much reason for this choice. Home embraces love. A true home is founded on love, and no real home is without "mother," which is unquestionably one of the loveliest words in the language.

In New York a prize was recently offered by a branch of the Y. M. C. A. for the best list of twenty-five beautiful words. This list won:

Melody, splendor, adoration, eloquence, virtue, innocence, joy, modesty, faith, honor, radiance, nobility, sympathy, heaven, love, divine, hope, harmony, happiness, purity and liberty.

Such a list pays undue attention to the mere sound of words and neglects the thoughts conveyed by the combination of letters. It contains too many Latin words which lack strength.

No such list would seem complete without "God," a word which stands preeminently with love, home and mother. Should not "child" also have a place in such a list?

Eloquence, splendor, adoration, harmony and several other words are empty noise when spoken as compared with the words which center about that great institution, the home.

When her child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. The fact that a woman's child is in danger is a risk of her life.

The People Got Free Raw Materials and Have Price of Shoes.

A Chicago dispatch tells of a probable advance in the price of shoes, "particularly the cheaper grades." When the Payne-Adrich tariff bill was being discussed in Congress and the leather people were asking to have the tariff taken off hides it was pointed out that free hides would bring down the price of leather and that in turn would make shoes cheaper. Some of the Senators, Baily most urgently, insisted that to give manufacturers free raw material would not necessarily make their manufactures cheaper, and they oppose putting hides on the free list unless the tariff was taken off shoes and other leather manufactures. But the majority were for free hides and taxed shoes and leather, and so the bill was passed. Almost immediately the price of shoes advanced, and now we hear another advance is about to be made, and, as usual, in "particularly the cheaper grades." This clearly demonstrates the futility of looking to the manufacturers to lower prices so long as the tariff wall keeps out competition and allows them to fix prices to suit themselves. The tariff should be taken from shoes, so that the people at large can have the advantage of an open market in which to make wherever possible, to purchase all their purchases, just as they should, the other necessities of life.—Baltimore Sun.

Falls Victim To Thieves.

S. W. Bends, of Coal City, Ala., has a justifiable grievance. Two thieves stole his health for twelve years. They were a liver and kidney trouble. Then Dr. King's New Life Pills throttled them. He's well now. Unrivaled for Constipation, Malaria, Headache, Dyspepsia 25c at all druggists.

CONTINUOUS ADVERTISING.

Continuous advertising is essential—because: Repetition builds reputation; convinces us to faith in self and merchandise. It establishes in the public mind the idea of permanency and provides against the "out of sight, out of mind." It fortifies against competition, open or hidden; breaks down indifference and opens the way to intimacy. Repeated assertion unchallenged, is accepted as truth. Regularity creates and takes advantage of subconscious effect on the mind produced through the eye. Continuous publicity is reputation continuously on the move.—Printers Ink.

You are probably aware that pneumonia always results from a cold, but you never heard of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. Why take the risk when this remedy may be had for a trifle? For sale by all dealers.

A millionaire lay dying. He summoned his lawyer. "Mr. Tape," said he feebly, "draw my will and make it brief. I want my money so left that not one penny of it shall ever leave this country. 'How shall I manage that?'" "Easy enough," said the lawyer. "Leave it all to foreign missions."—Hope.

Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs and colds, for croup, bronchitis, hoarseness and for racking lagrippe coughs. No opiates. Refuse substitutes. M. B. Blackburn.

"I understand they sentenced him to life imprisonment?" "Well, no; it wasn't as bad as that. He got only 90 years!"—Puck.

How to cure a cold is a question in which many are interested just now. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and immense sale by its remarkable cure of colds. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

The People Got Free Raw Materials and Have Price of Shoes.

Did you tell you there would be a row over the admission of cider free of customs duty? But Senator Brown and others who opposed the juice of the apple are right. In Charlotte cider is regarded as a deadly weapon and it costs a license tax of a thousand dollars a year to sell it. Cider is the standard remedy for jaundice, but a man had better die than to drink it. The mountain people have as much use for cider as they have for maddy creek water, and they refuse to put the product of their hillside and valley trees to such ignoble service as that exacted by the cider press. The present generation that flads comfort in coca-cola and other doped drinks, will never know the pangs of a separation from cider must go, and without it, the ginger bread is but as ashes to the lips.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Wife Got Tip Top Advice.

"My wife wanted me to take our boy to the doctor to cure an ugly boil," writes D. Frankel of Strud, Orla. "I said put Bucklen's Arnica Salve on it." She did so, and it cured the boil in a short time. "Quickest healer of Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Corns, Bruises, Sprains, Swellings. Best Pile cure on earth. Try it. Only 25c at all druggists."

"Did you know that there are germs in kisses?"

"I knowed there was something in them that made 'em taste mighty good, but I didn't know that it was germs.—Judge.

Pneumonia Followed a Cold

But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar, which checks the cough and expels the cold. M. Stockwell, Hannibal, Mo., says: "It beats all the remedies I ever used. I contracted a bad cold and cough and was threatened with pneumonia. One bottle of Honey and Tar completely cured me." No opiates, just a reliable household remedy. M. B. Blackburn.

A bill has been favorably reported in the Legislature to expend $10,000 erecting in the capital square in Raleigh a monument to the women of the Confederacy. Nothing is too good for the memory of the women of the Confederacy, but a splendid memorial and one that would more fittingly honor their memory would be to expend this money in the erection and maintenance of a home for old women who have no home and who are dependent on the grudging charity of relatives and friends, or failing that must go to the county home. That would be a monument more lasting than marble and more enduring than bronze. Building monuments is all right, but The Landmark is opposed to making the monument of stone when a more enduring memorial can be made in some service to humanity.—Statesville Landmark.

Speedy Relief From Kidney Troubles.

"I had an acute attack of Bright's disease with inflammation of the kidneys and bladder, and dizziness," says Mrs. Cora Thorp, Jackson, Mich. "A bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy overcame the attack, reduced the inflammation, took away the pain and made the bladder action normal. I wish every one could know of this wonderful remedy." M. B. Blackburn.

Are You Hard on Shoes?

Many a woman thinks she is hard on shoes when the fact of the matter is her shoes have tricked her. If your shoes go to pieces unreasonably soon it's the fault of the maker. To meet competition he has skimmed and scalped and substituted inferior for honest materials till there's nothing left but looks.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eyes, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, overindulgence in rich food, and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, yellow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that even babies realize that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon for Nervousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.
